Written by Rian Scalia Wednesday, 30 January 2013 01:21 - Last Updated Wednesday, 30 January 2013 01:54

Road to GLORY is getting started off in the United States this week. While that's happening, plans for the version of Road to GLORY in Japan have been announced. In addition, GLORY also announced their plans for a big return event to Tokyo in May.

The first Road to GLORY event in Japan will take place on March 10 in Tokyo at the Differ Ariake. The event will feature a 65kg tournament, with the winner getting the standard Road to GLORY prize of $20 000. The eight man field for the Road to GLORY tournament is as follows:

Zen Fujita vs. Riki Matsuoka

Road to GLORY Japan on March 10, GLORY 65kg Tournament on May 3 in Tokyo

